

A Righteous Resume Writer For Hire!

By Darrell Z. DiZoglio of <http://RighteousResumes.com>

What makes a Resume Writer righteous? Well first of all you have to get something extra in addition to the normal great writing, editing and proofreading skills. In my case you will get tremendous insider knowledge from all my years as a hiring manager and recruiter. I use all my know how from actually being the hiring manager and a recruiter to your best advantage. There are all sorts of critical items that separate the recycled resumes (92%) from the few that are selected as ideal candidates. I will make sure that you will get selected for plenty of interviews. Real results are what you want to pay for of course.

In addition, all of my 26 year background was in Sales and Marketing and as you know the job hunters who have the best marketing get noticed more and earn more interviews. My previous experience as a Copywriter means you will benefit from a convincing message in your resume. My compelling cover letters will earn you interviews even when employers do not have a job opening posted because I know how to push their hot buttons. This will allow you to tap into the unadvertised job market for the better employers.

My clients also can visit my website to see my price list and professional samples of my resumes and cover letters before they place an order. I also encourage anyone with doubts about their resume and cover letters to try out a free professional resume review by email. If you happen to be a fine writer already and you just need proofreading done that service is also available and affordable. Now as my real goal is to help you get hired, I also offer other vital services like: Recommendation letter writing, follow up letter writing, interview preparation, LinkedIn profile writing, network assist letter writing and reference checks. I have also posted my affordable prices for all to see before they order. Strangely though, most of my competition does not offer these valuable services.

The single most important part of being a "High Performance Resume Writer" would be always offering a personal interview to your clients. That is right; you should always be able to talk directly with your professional resume writer by phone. This is a must because only by asking direct questions and follow up questions can a resume be transformed into a high performance resume that will help get you hired. If this option is not available either the writer is not strong enough to be able to talk to you or all the writing/typing is being outsourced to the foreign countries with the lowest cost for labor. It would be best to avoid these options. This is also where the near useless resume software is written as well.

Finally, a resume writer can only write a great resume if they have a solid education and experience. Writing, editing and proofreading is very specialized work. Since your job search depends on these documents they had better be high quality. To summarize you need to see the following: Convincing resume samples not dull work histories, a satisfaction guarantee, keyword inclusion, a willingness to make edits, a writer that will interview you personally, a solid advantage the writer gives you over a low cost typing service, and finally give the website a thorough examination to ensure it looks professional too. If they charge less than $150 for a multiple page mid career resume it is likely they are only offering typing. A professional resume writer has to earn a living of course and in life you generally get what you pay for.
